Description

WWF South Africa, a prominent global environmental organization, envisions a future where both humanity and nature flourish. To achieve this vision, the organization offers a Graduate Internship Programme designed to cultivate future leaders in environmental fields. This program spans from April 1, 2025, to March 31, 2026, with interns placed within the Environmental Programme of WWF South Africa and affiliated partner organizations.

The Graduate Internship Programme is a year-long initiative that provides participants with the opportunity to work alongside seasoned mentors. Interns will engage with the organization's initiatives, gaining hands-on experience and fostering connections with professionals who share the vision of a sustainable future.

Responsibilities

Interns will be tasked with contributing to the work of WWF South Africa and its partner organizations. This includes participating in projects and activities that align with the organization's mission of promoting environmental sustainability and conservation.

Qualifications

Eligible candidates must possess a completed postgraduate degree in fields such as Natural Sciences, Legal, Engineering, Arts, Business, or Social Sciences. While first-degree graduates may be considered under exceptional circumstances of academic excellence, all applicants must demonstrate a strong commitment to career development in the environmental sector. Furthermore, candidates should have a proven track record of exceptional academic and professional accomplishments, along with demonstrated leadership potential and a dedication to fostering a sustainable world. Southern African citizenship is required.

Job Benefits

The WWF South Africa Graduate Internship Programme offers an unparalleled opportunity to gain practical experience in the environmental sector, working alongside professionals dedicated to conservation and sustainability. This experience not only enhances career prospects but also contributes to personal growth and leadership development.

How To Apply?

Prospective applicants who meet the specified criteria are encouraged to apply for the internship. The selection process will assess academic and professional qualifications, ensuring alignment with WWF South Africa's values and mission.
